Dear Friends in Christ,

We take up the pattern of Advent again this year, a year of such precautions and problems in day-to-day life. And what does God give us, using this traditional Church season?

Hope. A real hope. A hope that does not disappoint us. (Romans 5:5) We look to things unseen, the hidden holiness of this life. The Spirit, hidden in plain sight, is among us: amid the illnesses and injuries that hurt, amid the troubles of the pandemic, amid the unrest and injustices that are still not settled. The story of Christ appearing when He is born brings all our troubles together, to Him. The hopes and fears of all the years are met in Thee tonight.

Advent brings Peace. It is a time of waiting and watching for the Prince of Peace. This can be a little season that trains us to be peacemakers. Oh, how we need peacemakers today! The world needs you and me to be workers skilled in grace, goodness, gentleness and generosity.

December in the Church brings Joy! It is the joy of waiting, the joy of anticipating, the joy of looking forward with confidence. A lot of joy has been drained out of people's lives this year. The joys of embracing, of singing together, of feasting together, and of so many gatherings have lapsed. The joy of Advent is the pleasure of what is not yet. May we discover what joy we still have.

And Advent brings us Love. How to love this world of people and creation is a life lesson we are still learning. Love came down at Christmas. So, we watch for Him to arrive again. Love is human, Love is Divine, born in a manger. And born in our souls.

I thank God for all such promises. I long to see hope, peace, joy, and love rise up within your souls, your lives, your loved ones.

Happy Christmas to you all,

Jeff White,
Pastor
