Welcome, Rev. Dr. Stuart Blythe

We are delighted to have Dr. Blythe with us today as our guest speaker. His wife, Susanne, was not free to accompany him today. Dr. Blythe, as mentioned in last week's bulletin, joined the faculty of Acadia Divinity College in 2017 to occupy the John Gladstone Chair of Preaching and Worship, along with assuming responsibility for many other key roles. He brings to all of these a wealth of pastoral ministry and academic experience. Dr. Blythe grew up in Scotland and began there as a pastor in 1989, serving two churches in Glasgow. His focus changed to teaching when, in 2005, he joined the faculty of Scottish Baptist College. Now, after a twenty-year teaching ministry, beginning in Scotland, Dr. Blythe will be leaving the Divinity College. In the summer, he and Susanne will be returning to their homeland where he has, once again, been called to be the pastor of a church in Glasgow. How very thankful we are to have this opportunity this morning to meet Dr. Blythe and to hear the message the Lord has laid on his heart to share with us. We pray that God will pour out His blessings on Stuart and Susanne during this time of transition, and in the years ahead.

Thanks and appreciation for the prayers and messages of sympathy in the recent loss of my sister.

Thanks Charlene
